Honorable Claude R. Kirk, Jr.
Governor of Florida
Tallahassee, Florida

Dear Governor Kirk:

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 250.10, Florida Statutes there is submitted herewith the biennial report of the Adjutant General of Florida, pertaining to the administration of the Military Department for the Calendar Years 1967 and 1968.

As indicated in the accompanying report, the progress made during this biennium reflects the high state of readiness and efficiency maintained by the Florida National Guard in its efforts to fulfill both State and Federal missions. I feel that you as Commander in Chief can take real pride, as I do, in the accomplishments of the Florida National Guard.

Respectfully yours,

Henry W. McMillan
HENRY W. McMILLAN
Major General, Line
The Adjutant General

HEADQUARTERS MILITARY DEPARTMENT

INTRODUCTION

The Military Department is a State agency created by Section 250, Florida Statutes and composed of the military force provided for in the laws of the State of Florida. The Florida National Guard is provided for by Section 5, Article XIV of the Constitution, the Guard clause of the Article providing for the militia. The National Guard of the United States is provided for by Title 32, U. S. Code.

The Governor is Commander in Chief of the Florida National Guard. The Adjutant General is Chief of the Military Department and Commanding General of the Florida Army and Air National Guard. There is an Assistant Adjutant General who is also Assistant Adjutant General for Army, an Assistant Adjutant General for Air, and a general staff organization in the Headquarters. (See Appendix I for organizational chart.)

There are 691 full time employees, military and civilian, working either directly with the Military Department or units of the Florida National Guard. The salaries of these individuals are funded by the State of Florida or the Federal government. (See Appendix II.)

MISSION

The mission of the Florida National Guard remained unchanged during the biennium. The Florida National Guard, both Army and Air, has a dual mission.

(1) A State mission, to provide military organizations trained and equipped to function when necessary in the protection of life and property, and in the preservation of peace, order, and the public safety, as directed by competent State authority; and,

(2) A Federal mission, as Reserve component of the Army and Air Force of the United States, to provide trained and qualified individuals available for active duty in time of war or national emergency, or at such other times as the national security may require augmentation of the active forces.

SUMMARY

The Florida Army National Guard experienced several minor reorganizational changes during the first half of the biennium, and on 20 January 1968 underwent a major state-wide reorganization, created by Department of the Army requirements for elimination of those units for which there no longer existed a mobilization requirement, providing for an allocation of new type units within the Guard structure, and a nation-wide adjustment in unit strengths. Such reorganization provided for a state-wide reduction of from 82 to 61 units, but the overall state strength was increased from 7,914 to 8,333 officers, warrant officers and enlisted men. Many units throughout the state were reorganized and redesignated, and a high percentage of personnel branch changes were created throughout the state. In spite of such reorganization, the Florida Army National Guard has continued to attain its prescribed training objectives, to meet strength allocations, and to maintain its national standards of unit proficiency.

Headquarters, Florida Air National Guard and the 125th Fighter Group also experienced several minor reorganizations and realignments during the biennium but continue to perform their air defense mission with distinction, and to maintain their high level of training and national standing.

State and Federal fiscal matters remain on a sound basis, and expansion of facilities, both Army and Air, continue to make forward strides.

ORGANIZATION

Several organizational changes of marked significance took place during the biennium. The Honorable Claude R. Kirk, Jr., upon his inauguration as Governor of the State of Florida on 3 January 1967, assumed command of the Florida National Guard. The Military Support of Civil Authority Division, as an integral part of Headquarters Military Department, made noteworthy advancements in Task Force Planning in support of Civil Authorities. On 20 January 1968, a majority of the Florida Army National Guard units were reorganized, with the former 55th Command Headquarters, Divisional being redesignated as Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Emergency Operation Headquarters, under command of Major General Robert A. Ballard with Brigadier General Charles J. Kaniss being designated Deputy Commander. Brigadier General Ralph C. Davis assumed command of the newly redesignated 53rd Infantry Brigade (Separate). During the same period, the formerly designated "Selected Reserve Force I" units were relieved of such status, and replaced by Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 164th Artillery Group (AD); 1st AW Bn, 265th Artillery; 35th Surgical Hospital (Mobile); 138th Transportation Company (Lt Trk); 181st Military Police Company (Grd); and the 1043rd Transportation Company (Tml Svc), with designation of "Selected Reserve Force II", with continued mission of training units and personnel for the possibility of future mobilization. On 13 May 1968, the 35th Surgical Hospital (Mobile) (less Professional Complement) was ordered to Federal Active Duty for a period of twenty-four consecutive months, unless sooner relieved. Mobilization Station was Fort Benning, Georgia, where unit received its accelerated training which culminated in successful completion of its Army Training Test.

ARMORY BOARD, STATE OF FLORIDA

AUTHORITY AND MISSION

The Armory Board, State of Florida, is established as provided by Section 250.40, Florida Statutes, and consisting of the Governor, the Adjutant General, the State Quartermaster, the General Officers of the Line, Group Commanders, Depot Commanders and the Senior Air Commander of the active Florida National Guard, provides general supervision and control of real properties utilized by the Florida National Guard. This Board met several times during the biennium to consider plans for construction, alteration, rental, maintenance, and management of National Guard armories, other facilities and real properties utilized by the Florida National Guard.

The Armory Board is responsible for and controls forest management, mineral exploitation, game and fish propagation programs and the maintenance and improvement of the former Federal lands at Camp Blanding, with the approval of the U.S. Government.

POLICY

The National Guard, as a joint effort of the Federal, State and local governments, has taken its place as a major component in the defense of our Nation, State and local communities through this mutual support. The Armory Board reemphasized its policy, during the biennium, that National Guard armories be utilized by the citizenry of the community to the fullest extent possible, where such use is not to the detriment of public interest and does not interfere materially with the primary use of armories for the housing and training of military units stationed therein. The Armory Board further cooperated with the armed services, State agencies and organizations by providing facilities at Camp Blanding for use in training, rifle marksmanship, instruction, etc.

ARMORIES

GENERAL

The recent status of Florida's fifty-one (51) National Guard armories, which are dispersed from Pensacola on the west to Jacksonville on the northeast to Homestead on the south, is reflected in Appendix VI.

PAST ACCOMPLISHMENTS

During the biennium construction was completed on a new one (1) unit armory at Starke, Florida. The unit of the Florida Army National Guard in that city occupied this facility which is a most attractive building of which the community can be justly proud.

A one unit armory was placed under contract and construction commenced at Arcadia, Florida. This new armory will house a company presently occupying inadequate facilities, which will be returned to the owner.

The Military Department received funds appropriated by the State Legislature for rehabilitation of the Maxwell C. Snyder Armory in Jacksonville, Florida. Renovation is presently under-way on this facility.

Through the joint effort of Martin County, the Florida National Guard, and the West Palm Beach Sea-Bees Reserve Unit, a lease was secured and construction completed on a new 25 meter rifle range at Stuart, Florida. This will permit National Guard units in the vicinity to better train in marksmanship with reduced travel time during training assemblies. One hundred percent Federal funding was received and the contract awarded for a new Army Aviation Maintenance Shop to be located at Craig Field, Jacksonville, Florida. This shop was formerly located at Thomas Cole Imeson Airport, Jacksonville, Florida.

In addition to the aforementioned major projects, other fencing, paving, repair and renovation projects have been accomplished during the biennium.

NAMING

During the biennium the Armory Board adopted a resolution to name the new Starke National Guard Armory in honor of Major Randal F. Chitty, deceased, a distinguished Guardsman, former Post Commander and Mayor of the City of Starke, Florida.

FUTURE PROGRAM

State funds were appropriated by the Legislature and request for release to this department will be made for renovation and rehabilitation of the National Guard armories in Miami and Tallahassee, Florida. These repairs are too extensive to be accomplished from operating appropriations of the Military Department.

A new one (1) unit armory is being planned for Avon Park, Florida in 1970-71. The present facility is inadequate and requires major renovation. A request for future construction projects has been forwarded to the National Guard Bureau in Washington, D. C., for inclusion in their budget request.

At the close of the biennium the National Guard Bureau had tentatively approved Camp Blanding as an Air Defense Artillery Weapons Firing Site. Plans are being developed for the Air Defense Artillery units of the Third United States Army to conduct their annual field training there in 1969.

OTHER FACILITIES AND PROJECTS

STATE ARSENAL

The State Arsenal, one of the nation's most historic landmarks, is utilized for the housing of the Military Department Headquarters in St. Augustine. This facility, having had three (3) owners, the Spanish, the English and the Americans, is one of the more important historic buildings in St. Augustine and normal repairs and maintenance are performed in such a manner as to preserve the historic aspects of the facilities, insofar as is feasible.

AIR NATIONAL GUARD BASE

The new facilities for the Florida Air National Guard located at Jacksonville International Airport were completed and occupied in 1968. These are most modern facilities consisting of twenty-one buildings.

RANGES

National Guard Rifle Ranges at Camp Blanding, Avon Park and Ocala Forest were continued in use during the biennium and in addition, the MacDill Air Force Base in Tampa was utilized through an agreement with the Air Force. These ranges were used, not only by the Florida National Guard, but also by the regular and reserve forces.

CAMP BLANDING

GENERAL

The Armory Board maintains the Florida National Guard's 70,000 acre campsite located in Clay County including, in this area, 40,000 acres representing former Federal lands deeded to the Armory Board by the Federal Government through Public Law 493 with stipulations that the lands be maintained as a military reservation and that a Forest Management Program be instituted. The Armory Board realizes revenue from the forestry program and also from mining exploitation occurring on these former Federal lands.

UTILIZATION

National Guard

During the period 1967-1968 the Camp Blanding Military Reservation, with its 70,000 available acres, reached its peak period since World War II, when 55,701 National Guard man-days were utilized in weekend multiple unit training assemblies. The training being devoted to weapons training, qualification in arms, communication training, small unit tactical training exercises and special training conferences and exercises. During the same period 146,868 National Guard man-days were utilized for the accomplishment of annual field training exercises of Florida Army National Guard units. The majority of such units completing their annual field training at that location in 1968.

Camp Blanding, with its established drop zone, rappelling tower, and fine jungle type training areas, continues to be the home training site of Florida National Guard Special Forces elements. It is the home of the Florida National Guard's Officer Candidate School where personnel of the Army National Guard participate in twelve weekend training periods and four weeks of annual field training; and, upon successful completion of the course, are commissioned second lieutenants and assigned to Army Guard units for duty. Units designated as members of the Selected Reserve Force greatly enhanced their training status through performance of weekend training at Camp Blanding. In addition to the man-days utilized for weekend training and annual field training exercises, approximately 3,965 man-days were utilized during the biennium in National Guard Trophy Matches and competitive matches conducted by the Camp Blanding Rifle and Pistol Club.

At the writing of this report, plans have been initiated for the further expansion of improved administrative bivouac areas, which were established early in 1968, movement and construction of small arms ranges to provide for expanded tactical training areas, and the construction of mortar, recoilless rifle, field artillery and automatic weapons artillery ranges.

Camp Blanding facilities continue to be used by the United States Property and Fiscal Officer for the receipt, storage and issuance of Federal properties utilized by elements of the Florida Army National Guard, and remains the site of the Florida National Guard Combined Support Maintenance Shop, with continued mission of maintenance of Federal equipment allocated to the Florida National Guard, and the furnishing of field maintenance to vehicles and generators of Headquarters, United States STRIKE Command, MacDill Air Force Base, Tampa, Florida.

Active and Reserve Forces

As in the past, organizations of the Regular Establishment: Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps, as well as reserve elements of such organizations, continue to utilize Camp Blanding extensively for training. During the biennium, 26,237 man-days were spent in training exercises by such organizations. The U. S. Atlantic Fleet, Fleet Air, Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, expanded its leased portion of the reservation utilized for the training of their pilots, to include carrier-based personnel, in air-to-ground bombing and strafing, and for the operation of their radar scoring station.

Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission

The agreement between the Armory Board and the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, whereby portions of Camp Blanding are opened to controlled public hunting and fishing, remains in effect. Controlled burning and grain planting has been most favorable in production of game. Lake sampling indicated that stocked fish in certain lakes have done well in most instances.

Forest Management Operation

The Armory Board still conducts the Forest Management Program at Camp Blanding. During the biennium several miles of road were constructed enabling access into areas heretofore inaccessible. Harvesting and replanting of timber continues as conditions permit under the supervision of a professional forester.

Mining Operations

E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company continue to mine on one portion of Camp Blanding. Ilmenite continues to be the principal mineral mined in this area. In mid 1968, one of the mining operations moved from Camp Blanding lands to fulfill a previous mining commitment. This has resulted in a substantial decrease in revenue to this department.

Construction

Utilizing Federal training site funds authorized for operation and opening and closing cost in connection with annual field training at Camp Blanding, a great deal of renovation has been accomplished. This work included road repairs, paving, reopening and operation of the sewage disposal plant, extension of the air field, rerouting power lines dangerous to air traffic, clearing bivouac areas and construction of out-door latrines and showers. In addition, several buildings utilized by National Guard troops in the cantonment area were renovated.

STATE FUNDS

APPROPRIATED FUNDS

Disbursements of General Revenue Funds are based on appropriations made by the Florida State Legislature each biennium and are reflected in Appendix VII.

SERVICE CONTRACTS

The Federal Government and the Armory Board have a cost-sharing contract for the maintenance operation of certain facilities of the Florida National Guard. The Federal share of this contract is 75% and the Armory Board's share is 25%. The facilities under this contract are the Florida Air National Guard Base, Organizational Maintenance Shop, the Arsenal Annex and portions of Camp Blanding. The Annual Field Training Site and the week-end training sites of the Florida National Guard are 100% Federally operated.

BUDGET REQUESTS

The requests for operating funds for the coming biennium by the Military Department are printed in Appendix VII.

INTER-SERVICE AGREEMENTS

Under current policies of the Federal Government, the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, and the Reserve Forces, including the National Guard, furnish mutual logistical support on a reimbursable basis, whenever such support is requested and is within the capability of the requested agency. This policy is of appreciable value to the taxpayer in that it reduces duplication of supply and maintenance facilities. In keeping with this policy, the Florida National Guard has entered into a number of inter-service agreements during the biennium. These agreements go beyond the traditional support furnished by the active services to the National Guard, in that they also include support to the active forces by the National Guard. This state currently has working agreements with Fort Stewart, Georgia, Jacksonville Naval Air Station, Patrick Air Force Base, Homestead Air Force Base, MacDill Air Force Base, United States STRIKE Command, Tyndall Air Force Base, Eglin Air Force Base and Pensacola Naval Air Station. Agreements with each of the above activities are tailormade, and include such support to the National Guard as repair of aircraft, calibration of instruments, supply of medical items, supply of subsistence, and laundry service. Florida National Guard return support includes supply of gasoline within the state to active Army, the US Army Reserve, US Marine Corps Recruiting Station and the Navy Recruiting Station, along with complete responsibility for repair of vehicles, weapons, and other items of the United States STRIKE Command; and, the periodic temporary loan of vehicles, weapons, and other equipment to STRIKE Command, the active Army, the USAR, and the USMCR for special training missions.

DATA PROCESSING

The Military Department, like many other agencies, is utilizing an automatic data processing system.

The state program serves the requirements of the Administrative, Quartermaster and Personnel Divisions.

The Federal program has automated the fields of logistics, fiscal accounting and civilian technician records and payrolls. The Federal system is presently conducting a test program for the National Guard Bureau on the maintenance of military personnel records for both officer and enlisted personnel.

During the past two years these programs have improved administrative and logistical support to units of the Florida National Guard.

ADMINISTRATION

Administrative and staff services were provided to the Headquarters and the units of the Florida National Guard. These services included public affairs, records administration, mail management, distribution of Department of the Army publications, reproductions, awards and trophies, communications and security files.

RECORDS MANAGEMENT

The Military Department Archives and Records Administration Program insures uniform procedures governing maintenance and disposition of records and the preserving of historical documents. Permanent records are microfilmed to reduce storage space.

COMMUNICATIONS

This headquarters maintains a reliable communication system using the following means:

Commercial Telephone. A console (switchboard) providing external and internal communication equipped with a radio telephone patch capability.

Defense Communications Automatic Voice Switching Network (AUTOVON). A military worldwide general purpose dialing system providing the capability of immediate communication with other military installations.

Landline Teletype. A teletype network providing the capability to transmit and receive written messages.

National Warning System (NAWAS). A voice circuit emanating from North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), Colorado Springs, Colorado, the objective of which is to establish, operate and maintain an effective nationwide warning system to alert governments and the public to the threat of extraordinary dangers.

Command State Emergency Radio Net (COMSERN). A Florida National Guard radio net providing radio communication with Florida National Guard Task Force Headquarters strategically located throughout the state.

Florida Highway Patrol Radio Network. A network providing radio communication with state law enforcement agencies.

These communication systems when integrated provide continuous reliable communications under all conditions. To insure continuous communication with this headquarters a staff officer is on duty twenty-four hours daily.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS

The "Florida Guardsman" magazine, a four page monthly insert in "The National Guardsman" is utilized to maintain a high level of morale and to promote esprit de corps. This magazine is subscribed to by Florida National Guardsmen.

An illustrated narrative briefing of the Florida National Guard continues to be an excellent method of furthering the understanding of civil authorities, civic organizations and other groups throughout the state of the organization, responsibilities and mission of the Military Department.

The history of the State Arsenal and the Military Reservation dates back to the 16th century when it was the site of a Franciscan Monastery. In order to preserve and record this unique history a museum and archives is maintained. The museum is aptly located in the former monastery cells and endeavors to tell the story of the Florida National Guard and the militia from territorial days to the present. Historical documents and artifact contributed by Guardsmen, former Guardsmen and citizens have resulted in a collection of many historical items that would have otherwise become lost to posterity.

STATEMENTS OF SERVICE

The Military Department has custody of available records of the soldiers of Florida. These records include Muster Rolls of the Indian Wars of 1835, Muster Rolls of the Florida Militia and Florida National Guard since 1835, and Rolls of the Florida troops mustered into the Confederate Forces and Union Forces in the War Between the States (Civil War), the Spanish American War, the Mexican Border Incident, World War I, World War II, the Korean Conflict, and the Berlin Crisis. A card record is maintained for each individual who entered World War I from the State of Florida, whether by enlistment, induction through Selective Service, or induction with the Florida National Guard. In addition, an individual file folder, containing copies of all pertinent orders and personnel documents, is retained for each individual who has been a member of the Florida National Guard (Army and Air). The individual folders for current members are separated from the folders of former members and are maintained current at all times. These records occupy approximately 1,000 feet of shelf filing space.

Requests for Statements of Service and information generally fall into two broad categories. The majority of requests in the first category are for documentary evidence to establish eligibility for some type of benefit such as Federal or State military retirement benefits; birth date and/or active Federal service for Social Security benefits; increased military longevity pay for former service; burial in a National Cemetery or government furnished grave marker; or hospitalization or other financial benefits through the Veterans Administration. The second category pertains to requests in the interest of genealogy or history and, for the most part, are applicable to records prior to 1900.

The number of Statements of Service furnished during the period of this report was 423 for fiscal year 1967, and 629 for fiscal year 1968.

TECHNICIANS

Both Army and Air National Guard technicians are employed by the Florida National Guard. These technicians are full time specialists in the field of administration, finance, accounting, supply and maintenance. With the exception of a limited number of female employees, technicians are required to be military members of the various organizations and units to which assigned.

During this biennium, a total of 619 technicians were authorized and supported by the Federal Government. The annual Federal budget authorized in support of these technicians amounted to $4,486,813.00.

Statistical data reflecting assignment of technicians and expenditures for this purpose during 1967 and 1968 are shown in Appendix II and VIII.

MILITARY SUPPORT OF CIVIL AUTHORITY

GENERAL

This Division of the Military Department is Federally supported with personnel, equipment and funds. It was initially established to coordinate pre-attack planning and post-attack operations in support of Civil Defense by all military forces within the State. Early in 1967, foreseeing the need for more comprehensive planning and closer coordination with local law enforcement, the duties of the division were expanded, with Federal approval, to encompass state missions in support of civil authority. Concurrently, the name of the division was changed to Military Support of Civil Authority.

PLANNING ACTIVITIES

A revised state plan was published in May 1967 that provided a flexible organization to meet the needs of both natural disaster and civil disturbance situations. Maximum use of resources and minimum response time were provided. Detailed planning and coordination with local law enforcement agencies was instigated. The basic procedures of operation have been applied on several occasions of Active State Duty with outstanding results. Concurrently, coordination and liaison on civil defense support missions has continued to be maintained with State agencies and the Armed Forces of the United States.

EMERGENCY OPERATIONS CENTER

An Emergency Operations Center (EOC) was designed within the existing facility. This EOC is equipped with the communications, data and information to direct, supervise and coordinate National Guard participation in emergencies State-wide. A mobile command post and communications center was designed and built to provide greater flexibility. Single side band (SSB) radio equipment was purchased from available funds and placed in armories throughout the State. This equipment provides reliable communications from the EOC to the base stations. In addition to the mobile command post, two sedans are equipped with the SSB radios to provide communications with remote areas and with personnel in transit. A NAWAS Line was installed in the EOC which provides hot line communications with the Governor, Civil Defense, and various sheriffs and police.

OPERATIONS

Immediately upon threat of natural disaster, civil disturbance or similar emergencies anywhere in the State, the EOC is activated with a nucleus of key personnel to monitor the situation. Additional personnel are brought in as necessary and the EOC is fully manned with the order of troops to State Duty. Should the emergency arise without prior warning, the EOC can be manned and operational in a matter of minutes. Key personnel are dispatched to potential emergency areas based upon the analysis of the situation made in coordination with local officials.

Commanders of troop units throughout the State maintain close liaison with civil authorities and channel information to the EOC in the Military Department which is used as a basis for forecasting potential problem areas. Units and troops are placed in various stages of alert dependent upon reported situations.

FLORIDA NATIONAL GUARD OFFICER CANDIDATE SCHOOL

HISTORY

The Florida National Guard Officer Candidate School was established in March 1961, by the Adjutant General of Florida.

Since its establishment, the school has become the primary source for officer procurement for the Florida Army National Guard. In January 1968, a sixteen-man augmentation to the Table of Organization for State Headquarters Detachment was authorized, with the primary mission of operating the Officer Candidate School. Numbers of candidates attending Florida National Guard Officer Candidate School, and graduates, are as shown below:

Class	Enrolled	Graduated
1962	49	24
1963	79	45
1964	118	61
1965	89	54
1966	127	79
1967	125	54
1968	50	—

At present over fifty percent (50%) of the company grade officers in the Florida National Guard are graduates of the school.

MISSION

The mission of the Florida National Guard Officer Candidate School is to provide effective instruction for officer candidates, qualifying them in the military educational requirements for appointment as second lieutenants in the Florida National Guard; and to develop maximum leadership and command ability in the candidates.

PROGRAM

The program encompasses a full year of study and training, starting with a two-week training period the first summer, followed by twelve weekend training assemblies during the fall, winter, and spring months, and is completed at a second two-week training period the second summer. The subject matter taught is closely parallel to the resident Infantry Officer Candidates Course at Fort Benning, Georgia.

STANDARDS

All examinations are graded by the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Georgia. Methods of leadership development include rigid discipline, high standards of deportment and conduct and exacting manner of performance, frequent and effective counseling, and continuous observation, correction and evaluation. The school is accredited by the Department of the Army and is inspected yearly by Third United States Army to determine the manner of performance of the school. Over the past eight years, the school rating on this yearly inspection has been one (1) Excellent and seven (7) Superior ratings.

STATE ACTIVE DUTY

Under the provisions of Military Code, Chapter 250, Florida Statutes, troops of the Florida National Guard were called to active state duty to assist civil authorities. These troops were employed in the following situations during the biennium.

CIVIL DISTURBANCE DUTY—TAMPA—12-18 JUNE 1967

On 12 June 1967 at 1600 hours, eighty-three officers and three hundred and eighty-nine enlisted men from National Guard units Tampa, Florida, under the command of Brigadier General Charles J. Kaniss and personnel of HHD, FlaARNG were ordered to active state duty for the purpose of aiding civil authorities in restoring law and order in the Tampa area. The slaying of a Negro youth by a policeman as the youth fled the scene of a robbery and did not heed calls to stop sparked instances of rock throwing, burning and looting. The situation continued tense through the daylight hours 12 June with gradual increase in severity of the situation throughout the day. Sporadic incidents continued through the night of 12 June, however, the situation began to alleviate on 13 June. During the night of 14 June the situation was fairly quiet with only a few gatherings reported. The number of troops on duty was reduced on 15 June and by 16 June all troops were relieved with exception of liaison personnel. The liaison personnel were relieved 18 June.

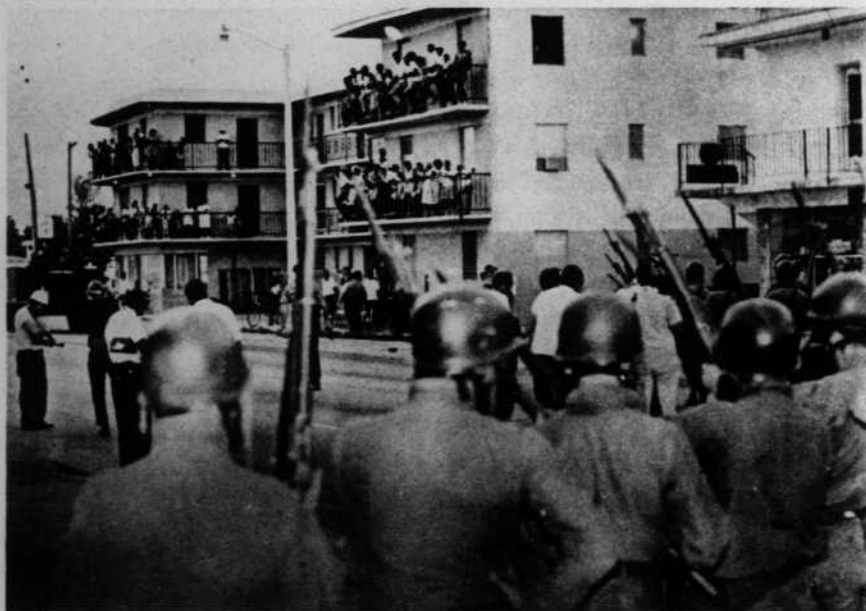

TORNADO DISASTER RELIEF—FORT WALTON BEACH— 10-14 DECEMBER 1967

On 10 December 1967 twenty-four officers and two hundred and thirty-eight enlisted men from the Panama City area, under the command of Lieutenant Colonel Oscar O. Wilkerson and personnel of HHD, FlaARNG were ordered to active state duty for the purpose of assisting civil authorities in tornado disaster relief and protection of property at Fort Walton Beach. Tornadoes, accompanied by severe weather conditions, struck the Fort Walton Beach metropolitan area before daylight on 10 December 1967. Nearly four hundred homes and businesses were destroyed or severely damaged. The dollar value of the damage was estimated to be in the neighborhood of five million dollars. The number of troops on duty was reduced on 12 December and by 14 December all troops were relieved from active state duty. During this period of active state duty two National Guardsmen, while on guard duty, saved the life of a cerebral palsy victim, who was trapped in the rear of his home which was afire. The Florida Cross was awarded to both of the Guardsmen for heroism.

CIVIL DISTURBANCE — TALLAHASSEE — GAINESVILLE
—FORT PIERCE — 4-10 APRIL 1968

Immediately following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, a prominent Negro leader, on 4 April 1968, unrest and minor incidents occurred in several Florida cities. Command alerts were exercised in all Task Forces. The gravest situation was in the vicinity of Florida A & M campus in Tallahassee where car windows were smashed, groups were gathered and shots were reported. The Gainesville area was threatened when some incidents and shooting occurred. However, the arrest of three militants removed the main source of agitation and helped in keeping the situation from becoming serious. The Fort Pierce area also had incidents of roving gangs, rock throwing and some arson. Four hundred and fifteen Guardsmen from Tallahassee, Quincy and Apalachicola under the command of Colonel George H. Dale were ordered to active state duty for deployment in Tallahassee, three hundred and forty-nine Guardsmen from Ocala, Gainesville and Lake City were ordered to active state duty under the command of Colonel Edward T. Murdock for deployment in Gainesville and one hundred twenty-nine Guardsmen from Fort Pierce were ordered to active state duty under the command of Major John R. Woods for possible deployment in Fort Pierce. Personnel of HHD, FlaARNG were ordered to active state duty for the staffing of the Emergency Operation Control Center. All troops were relieved by 10 April.

Florida National Guardsmen on duty during civil disturbance at Liberty City.

CIVIL DISTURBANCE—MIAMI (LIBERTY CITY) 8-14 AUGUST 1968

Nine hundred and fifty Florida National Guardsmen were ordered to active state duty to assist civil authority in connection with the civil disturbance which occurred in the Liberty City area of Miami coincidental with the National Republican Convention being held in Miami Beach. Florida National Guardsmen as a precautionary measure on 7 August were assembled in a training status in their armories. Several racial agitators in the Miami area, who failed to gain support for demonstrations at the convention site, scheduled a black rally in the Liberty City area and publicized that certain Negro leaders would appear. When these persons were not present at the early part of the rally, the crowd became unruly. Rock throwing, burning and looting at a few stores ensued with appearance of weapons and some shooting. The following day gangs roved a ten block area. In midafternoon of 8 August the City of Miami authorities requested National Guard assistance. The Governor and local officials decided to commit National Guard troops. A combined National Guard and Dade County police force, in riot formation, supported by armored personnel carriers and special weapons teams, swept and cleared the area without the necessity of weapons fire. A curfew was established and the sale of intoxicating beverages prohibited. Mounted and walking patrols, fixed guard posts, rooftop guards, road blocks and check points were established. A Negro youth group demanded the Guardsmen be withdrawn. However, the request was disputed by adult Negro leaders who requested that the National Guardsmen remain in the area until Sunday, 11 August. As the situation became more stable, the number of troops on active state duty were reduced, with the last troops released by noon on 14 August.

SEARCH FOR LOST MAN—JEFFERSON COUNTY—12-13 DECEMBER 1968

Two officers from HHD FlaARNG, four officers and one enlisted man from the 111th Aviation company, were ordered to active state duty in the aid of civil authority. Their mission was to render aerial search for lost man. National Guard aircraft were actively searching from 1300 hours until 1745 hours, 12 December. The search was resumed 0745 hours on 13 Decem-

SPECIAL ASSIGNMENTS

Special assignments have been performed by Florida National Guard troops in support of community, state and national activities. This duty is on a voluntary basis. These assignments are generally performed during non-duty hours, weekends and holidays.

Among these assignments were the annual celebration of Armed Forces Day, Memorial Day and Veterans Day throughout the state, as well as the Gasparilla Festival in Tampa and the Orange Bowl in Miami.

Elements of the Florida National Guard participated in the inauguration of Governor Claude R. Kirk, Jr., on 3 January 1967 in Tallahassee. A composite Honor Guard Company of Army, Air and Special Forces National Guardsmen was drawn from throughout the state. A Color and Honor Guard detachment of enlisted men — Army and Air — participated in the Inaugural Ball Ceremonies. A composite marching battalion consisting of personnel from Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 260th Engineer Group, 261st Engineer Battalion and Troop E, 153rd Cavalry Company marched in the inaugural parade. The 125th Fighter Group, Florida Air National Guard conducted a fly-over with F-102 jets. A gun crew from the 2nd Battalion, 116th Artillery fired a 19-gun salute.

The Florida National Guard in cooperation with the Division of Economic Opportunity, Comprehensive Health Planning, Office of the Governor, conducted free medical health screening examinations for selected poverty stricken individuals in Miami 2-3 December 1967 and 10-11 February 1968; Jacksonville 11-12 May 1968; Gainesville 3-4 August 1968. A total of 439 men, women and children were examined. A similar program was scheduled in Tampa on 6-7 April 1968, however, it was canceled due to the death of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. The 19-20 October 1968 screening examination in Tampa had to be canceled due to hurricane "Gladys". Future health projects are planned in St. Petersburg and Jacksonville. Other state agencies participating in these health projects include the Florida Industrial Commission, Florida State Employment Service, the State Welfare Department, State Health Department and County Departments of Health.

ARMY NATIONAL GUARD

STRENGTH

The Florida Army National Guard entered fiscal year 1967 with an authorized priority aggregate strength of 8,335. As a result of a major reorganization and realignment of the Army National Guard on 20 January 1968, Florida's priority aggregate strength was changed to 8,101. The authorized maximum state strength was further limited to 97.5% of the priority aggregate strength. This limitation resulted in the establishing of a Unit Manning Level for each unit to insure that the State strength is not exceeded.

The nationwide reorganization of the Army National Guard during fiscal year 1968 was expected to generate considerable overstrength of personnel in certain areas. Therefore, the normal one year retention of overstrength personnel was extended to a total of three years. Upon reorganization Florida was overstrength 3 Colonels, 14 Lieutenant Colonels, 18 Majors, 13 Captains, 7 First Lieutenants, and 28 Second Lieutenants for a total of 83 officers and 27 warrant officers. As of 30 June 1968 the overstrength of officers had been reduced by 1 Colonel, 2 Lieutenant Colonels, 4 Captains, 3 First Lieutenants, 9 Second Lieutenants and 6 Warrant Officers. Except for 1 Colonel MC, 1 Lieutenant Colonel CH, 1 Major CH, 1 Major DC, (for whom no TOE position exists in the troop structure) and approximately 17 Warrant Officers (all Federal technicians whose current unit is no longer authorized Warrant Officer positions), it is anticipated that the remaining overstrength will be absorbed by normal attrition prior to expiration of the three years authorized retention period. While overstrength of enlisted personnel was generated in certain geographical areas, most geographical areas of the state had absorbed the overstrength (except overstrength in pay grades) by 30 June 1968. Personnel overstrength in pay grade, if not absorbed within the three year period, must accept a reduction to the authorized pay grade or accept discharge.

RESERVE OFFICER PERSONNEL ACT OF 1954

During the period 1 July 1966 - 30 June 1968, the Reserve Officer Personnel Act of 1954 (ROPA) remained unchanged insofar as the provisions for mandatory elimination and mandatory promotion consideration were concerned. During the period it was noted that much more emphasis was placed on the officer's performance as reflected by Officer Efficiency Reports in the selection and nonselection by the Reserve of the Army Selection Board.

As a result of the officer overstrength generated by reorganization in fiscal year 1968, it was necessary for the majority of the officers considered and selected to decline their promotion for the authorized three year declination period in order to remain assigned to the Florida Army National Guard or to accept their promotion to the higher grade with discharge from the Florida Army National Guard and transfer to the U. S. Army Reserve for such promotion. It appears that this condition will continue to exist until fiscal year 1972.

FLORIDA ARMY NATIONAL GUARD FIELD GRADE OFFICER SELECTION BOARD

The Florida Army National Guard Field Grade Officer Selection Board, established in October 1963, continued to function during the period of this report. As a result of the reorganization fiscal year 1968, the Board was reconstituted and is composed of the Assistant Adjutant General - President; Deputy Commander, Emergency Operation Headquarters; Commanding General, 53d Infantry Brigade; Commanding Officers of 164th Artillery Group and 53d Signal Group as Members; and Recorder, from Headquarters, Military Department, State of Florida, (without vote). The Selection Board meets at the call of the President to select officers to be assigned to field grade vacancies as they occur. During the period that overstrength officers exist, such overstrength officers receive first consideration for each vacancy as it occurs. Once the overstrength has been absorbed the Board will insure that every officer who is qualified for assignment to a higher grade position is considered for each higher grade vacancy that occurs.

ARMY NATIONAL GUARD TRAINING

The Training Program of the Florida Army National Guard is conducted in accordance with criteria prescribed by the United States Continental Army Command, in coordination with the National Guard Bureau. Commanding General, Third United States Army is charged with the responsibility of coordination, support and supervision of prescribed training. Standards for training are established by Department of the Army and the performance of units evaluated annually during the active duty training period by a Board of Active Army Officers.

There are four general phases of training:

Basic Combat Training and Advanced Individual Training for development of basic skills and techniques, culminating in the assignment of Military Occupational Specialties (MOS) to individuals commensurate with the type training received and which denotes qualifications to perform the duties of a particular job assignment; Basic Unit Training, conducted by all units in accordance with the Army Training Program (ATP) appropriate to each type unit, to develop effective, well coordinated sections, teams and small units, composed of those members having acquired the skills and techniques as noted above during the Advanced Individual Training Phase; and finally, the Advanced Unit Training Phase, which is designed to provide practice in the employment of unit techniques, to develop unit operating procedures, and to furnish command and staff training in the conduct of combined arms operations.

Due to the previously mentioned state-wide reorganization of 20 January 1968, at which time the majority of units were redesignated or converted from one branch to another, the Army Training Program of many such units reverted to the Advanced Individual Training and/or Squad and Platoon Training Phases, in accordance with published changes to United States Continental Army Command Training Directives which further provided for the completion of such training during Calendar Year 1969, with the administering of Army Training Tests (ATT) to all units during Annual Field Training 1969.

During the fall of 1967 and spring of 1968, emphasis was placed on civil disturbance type training at all staff levels and in each unit, utilizing a special thirty-two hour training packet furnished by Department of the Army. The efficiency and high state of training achieved, in both the normal Army Training Program and the Special Civil Disturbance Training Program, were dramatically demonstrated by the outstanding performance and services rendered civil authorities during civil disturbance operations.

Standards of training are constantly being upgraded through the medium of improved lesson plans, more effective instructional methods and techniques, and with the inception of a better scheduling of training periods, which provides for weekend multiple unit training assemblies, consisting of eight to sixteen hour training periods. This, together with increased emphasis on planning and supervision of training at all staff levels during the biennium, has resulted in higher unit ratings during both the training year and the annual field training period for each successive year.

During the summer of 1967, 24 units of the Army Guard, comprising 2994 officers and enlisted personnel, performed their annual field training at the Camp Blanding Military Reservation. Based on the success of such training, the majority of Florida Army National Guard units performed their annual field training at this same location during the summer of 1968. Training during the latter period was most successful and received highly favorable comments from the Army Evaluation Board.

As of the writing of this report, surveys are being made for the relocation of small arms ranges at the Camp Blanding Military Reservation which will provide many fine additional acres suitable for tactical training and bivouac sites, and for the construction of new artillery, automatic weapons, mortar and recoilless rifle ranges which will greatly enhance the training of units throughout the training year, and provide an annual field training site where all elements of the Army National Guard may complete their prescribed training programs in all phases of training.

EMERGENCY OPERATION HEADQUARTERS, FARNG

Upon reorganization of the Florida Army National Guard in January 1968, the former 55th Command Headquarters, Divisional was redesignated as Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Emergency Operation Headquarters, Florida Army National Guard, with continued delegation of responsibility for supervision of training of all elements of the Florida Army National Guard, with the exception of Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, Florida Army National Guard; 107th Public Information Detachment (Fld Svc); 153rd Finance Disbursing Section; 111th Aviation Company (w/attached Augmentations); and the Florida National Guard Officer Candidate School which remain directly under The Adjutant General's Headquarters for training supervision. Such delegation of responsibility provides the Adjutant General an intermediate headquarters with a staff capable of providing necessary planning and supervision for training through the medium of supplemental directives and guidance to the separate commands and units for implementation of training requirements as established by the United States Continental Army Command, Chief National Guard Bureau, Third United States Army, and the State Adjutant General.

The Emergency Operation Headquarters, FARNG has the additional capability and responsibility to constitute a Task Force Headquarters for major civil disturbances, natural disasters or other emergency operations.

INITIAL ACTIVE DUTY FOR TRAINING PROGRAM

The Reserve Enlistment Program of 1963 (REP-63) continued during the period of this report. During the period of this report a significant change was made in the allotment of input quotas to the State. Monthly, each state initiates a request for input quotas estimated to be required two months subsequent to the date of the report. The report specifies the estimated needs by MOS. Department of the Army then allots to each state input quotas in accordance with their requirements. In some instances requested quotas may not be furnished due to non-availability of quotas in a specific MOS. However, for the most part the new system is more responsive to the actual needs of each state and insures a much higher percentage of personnel being trained in the desired MOS.

We entered fiscal year 1967 with a backlog of 876 individuals awaiting initial active duty for training. The backlog was overcome during fiscal year 1967 and at the present time individuals are entering initial active duty for training within 60 to 120 days after their enlistment except in unusual circumstances.

For many years constant liaison with the Army training centers was required to insure the proper training and treatment of the trainees. The majority of the problem areas have been resolved and contact with the Army training centers is now seldom required.

SCHOOL PROGRAM

During the biennium, 591 officers and warrant officers and 124 enlisted men participated in the Army National Guard School Program, which is supported mainly from Federal funds. The School Program provides the vehicle for branch and technical training of personnel whereby they may qualify themselves for their unit TOE assignments and receive required advance training in critical Military Occupational Specialties.

It is through the media of the Army Service and Army Area School Programs, together with Specialized Training Conferences and Exercises, that personnel maintain their proficiency in the areas of combat arms, technical, and administrative fields, by attendance at advanced courses of instruction and refresher training. The Florida National Guard Officer Candidate School, conducted by the state, utilizing Federal funds, continues to provide the source of newly commissioned officer personnel.

ENLISTED EVALUATION SYSTEM

The Enlisted Evaluation System continues in force as outlined in the previous report. Selected MOS tests are given in February, April, August, and November of each year so that testing of all MOSs is completed in each 12 months cycle.

Test results indicate that enlisted personnel of Florida compare favorably with enlisted personnel of the overall National Guard and the Active Forces.

FEDERAL FUNDS AND EQUIPMENT

The Florida Army National Guard continues each year to be better equipped than in previous years. This is due to the increase in funds and equipment being made available to the State of Florida by the Federal Government.

The "Selected Reserve Forces" program referred to in the 1965-1966 Adjutant General's Report is still in existence. Those units designated "SRF" in the last report have been returned to their former status, and new units have been designated. Additional funding was furnished to support these units' stepped-up training through 30 June 1968.

"Military Support of Civil Authorities" is a new program which the Federal Government is providing to the State. This program increases the amount of funds and equipment made available to the State for such purpose.

The utilization of Camp Blanding, Florida, as an Annual Field Training Site for National Guardsmen has also increased the funding received from the Federal Government during the past two years. It is anticipated that this program will be increased in future years through the scheduling of more troops for training at Camp Blanding.

There are 373 full-time employees working for the Florida Army National Guard paid from Federal funds. During fiscal years 1967 and 1968, Federal funds expended in direct support of the Florida Army National Guard totaled $20,110,902.04. At the close of the biennium, the value of Army equipment and supplies on hand in the State totaled $26,594,178.79.

MAINTENANCE OF FEDERAL PROPERTY

Two changes have taken place in facilities during this period. One Organizational Maintenance Shop has been added at Craig Field, Jacksonville, for a new total of sixteen. The sub-shop of Army Aviation at Tampa has been eliminated, resulting in all aviation maintenance being performed at Imeson Airport, Jacksonville.

At the close of the period 153 technicians were employed for the maintenance of Army National Guard equipment as follows: Army Aviation 14; Support Maintenance at Camp Blanding 71; Organizational Maintenance (sixteen shops) 68.

The Combined Support Maintenance Shop continues to support, on a Cross-Service Agreement, United States STRIKE Command, at MacDill Air Force Base, Tampa, Florida.

Federal technician travel used in connection with maintenance operations was 2,888 man-days.

All maintenance technicians are well qualified and perform their duties in an outstanding manner.

There are 373 full-time employees working for the Florida Army National Guard paid from Federal funds. During fiscal years 1967 and 1968, Federal funds expended in direct support of the Florida Army National Guard totaled $20,110,902.04. At the close of the biennium, the value of Army equipment and supplies on hand in the State totaled $26,594,178.79.

AIR NATIONAL GUARD

GENERAL

The years 1967-1968 have been devoted to attaining and maintaining the maximum proficiency of each individual in the Florida Air National Guard. The mission, both State and Federal, has remained unchanged. These missions are:

a. Federal: To provide trained units capable of, or supporting units engaged in, executing fighter interceptor missions designed to identify aircraft and destroy enemy forces and facilities.

b. State: To provide units so trained and equipped as to enable them to function efficiently in the protection of life and property and preservation of the peace, order and public safety, under competent orders of state authorities.

STRENGTH

The Air National Guard of the United States was authorized an overall drill pay strength of 82,724 for Fiscal Years 1967 and 1968. The Florida Air National Guard began the biennium with a Unit Manning Document Authorized strength of 942. A drill pay strength ceiling has been in effect for this biennium, which was considerably lower than the Unit Manning Document Strength. On 1 July 1967, the drill pay strength ceiling was limited to 82% of the UMD strength. Actual strength of the Florida Air National Guard has remained somewhat over this ceiling; however, planned attrition has resulted in attaining the desired 82% ceiling as of 1 November 1968.

AIR NATIONAL GUARD OPERATIONS AND AIR DEFENSE COMMAND ALERT PROGRAM

The Florida Air National Guard's responsibilities in aerospace defense of the southeastern United States, were again increased over those of the previous biennium. The 125th Fighter Group, previously committed to three aircraft on a five-minute alert status, became responsible to commit four such aircraft during this period. Accordingly, daily active duty requirements for pilots increased from eleven spaces to fourteen. The average 125th Fighter Group pilot spends 220 days per year on some type of Air National Guard duty. The net result is that over one-half the fighter squadron is on active duty each day. This is an outstanding accomplishment since these pilots and many of the ground crew are also engaged in full-time employment.

The 125th Fighter Group, upon request by the National Guard Bureau, assumed the Puerto Rican Air Defense Mission during the period 27 July through 12 August 1968. This was done to permit the Puerto Rican Air Guard to attend Annual Field Training in the continental United States.

The assumption of this mission required the 125th Fighter Group to deploy 14 pilots, 28 enlisted men, and six aircraft (F-102's) to Puerto Rico and provided the unit with an opportunity to test its dispersal plan.

The responsibility for training, inspection and the operational control of the 125th Fighter Group was transferred from the 14th Air Force to the 1st Air Force on 30 June 1968, with the continuing support of the 32d Air Division. The 32d Commander, associated over many years with this unit, has repeatedly praised the 125th Fighter Group as the finest and most professional interceptor unit in his division, one of the largest Air Defense sectors in the country.

Aircraft with aircrews and all required maintenance personnel were deployed to Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida, during April 1967 and March 1968. During these deployments, 15 aircraft and their systems were evaluated in a special project which tested F-102 weapons systems against Firebee drone targets. A total of 21 pilots and 70 maintenance personnel were utilized during these successful deployment periods.

One hundred percent of the tactical aircrews of the 125th Fighter Group have successfully completed the ADC Life Support Training School at Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida. This is a six-day program which includes three parachute drops into the water, helicopter pickup, tower training and survival training in remote areas.

One Tactical Evaluation (Tac Eval) was conducted during the reporting period by the Aerospace Defense Command. The training standards are identical to those of regular Air Force units with two grading standards, satisfactory or unsatisfactory. The evaluation was conducted on a unit training weekend and included recall plan exercised, security and sabotage alert test, written tests for aircrews and supervisors, and disaster control procedures, plus an extended operational test flying against high altitude supersonic targets. The flying activities during this inspection lasted from early morning until late at night. The unit was rated satisfactory.

Headquarters, United States Air Force also conducted an Operational Readiness Inspection (ORI) in April 1968. An ORI is a complete test of the fighter intercept capability of the group and is similar in nature to the Tac Eval as explained above. The unit was rated satisfactory on this most important inspection. While the written report of a Tac Eval only goes to the Major Air Command involved, the report of an ORI is sent to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, The Pentagon, Washington, D. C.

The 125th Fighter Group in its day-to-day training also provides much of the training sorties for the Air Force controller training program. In addition to the above program, the radar system calibration check flights are constantly flown by this unit to keep the North American Air Defense (NORAD) System at top operational readiness. These exercises are necessary to keep the personnel assigned to the Direction Centers of the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment (SAGE-USAF) Battle Staff, and Back-Up Interceptor Control (BUIC-USAF) adequately trained. This important function could not be accomplished without the all-out participation of the 125th Fighter Group in each and every Air Division or higher headquarters ordered exercise. In order for Eastern NORAD Region and 32d Air Division to meet their requirements, this unit is required to participate in exercises each month in addition to the regular unit training weekend exercise.

The ground training program for aircrews and pilot flight training is identical to the regular establishment. Additional flying training is accomplished by the pilots participating in the support exercises. The group pilots average over 200 flying hours per year in the unit mission aircraft.

PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT

During this biennium, a computerized Reserve Payment System was implemented. After a testing phase, the program became effective on 1 January 1968. Pay entitlements and transactions are input weekly on punch card formats to AFAFC, Denver, Colorado, where they are transcribed to tape and input to the computer. Payment is then made by the computer. The Air National Guard Consolidated Base Personnel Office is responsible for pay inputs and maintaining supporting documents. Under this system, payment for Inactive Duty Training is made monthly rather than quarterly as was the case under the old manual system.

SCHOOL TRAINING

Policies established by higher headquarters require that all non-prior service enlistees complete a minimum of four months active duty subsequent to enlistment. This training consists of six weeks Basic Military Training (BMT) with subsequent entry into an Air Force technical school. In a small percentage of cases, this training consists of the BMT only with a period of On-the-Job Training (OJT) at the home station or at some nearby Air Force base.

In addition to the school training for non-prior service airmen, other types of formal training are available to members of the Air National Guard. Some of these are: advanced training courses, lateral training courses, special training, and by field and mobile training detachments.

During the summer of 1968, the National Guard Bureau finalized plans of many years and opened its own Air National Guard NCO Academy. It is designed to develop the leadership and management abilities of non-commissioned officers and to instill confidence in themselves. Instructors were selected from among the highest qualified individuals throughout the Air National Guard. The Academy is set up to conduct two-week classes (Phase I and Phase II) throughout the summer months and 5½-week classes the remainder of the year. NCO's who are unable to attend the full length course may attend the two weeks Phase I class one year and the Phase II class the following year and will have fulfilled the requirements of the full academy course. Three NCO's from the Florida Air National Guard attended Phase I, two attended Phase II and two attended the 5½-week course in 1968. In addition to this, four NCO's attended the ADC Reserve Forces NCO Academy in 1967 and six others attended in 1968.

UNIT TRAINING

Unit training is conducted in accordance with directives published by the National Guard Bureau, Headquarters, United States Air Force, Air Defense Command, and by local supplementing directives. The heart of the unit training program is

On-the-Job Training (OJT). The OJT program of the Florida Air National Guard continued to progress at a satisfactory rate during the biennium. Several airmen in the unit had become delinquent in their training during the latter part of the previous biennium. A special drive was initiated at the beginning of 1967 to either get these individuals qualified or eliminate them from the Air National Guard program, since part of their enlistment agreement was to progress satisfactorily in their training. Most of these airmen were qualified in their specialty; however, a few were eliminated from the group.

OJT Trainer-Supervisor classes were scheduled and conducted by a highly qualified United States Air Force Instructor in both 1967 and 1968. These classes are designed to acquaint supervisory personnel and trainers with classification, assignment, training methods and upgrading procedures. Practically all personnel who are involved in administering an OJT program or who have the responsibility of actually conducting OJT have attended this course in past years.

The Dual-Channel concept of conducting OJT has proven to be as effective as anticipated when first instigated. The essence of this concept of training is that the trainee acquires general background knowledge required for understanding military and career area functions by home study of correspondence courses, i.e., Career Development Courses (CDC). The other portion of this concept is Job Proficiency, where the trainee learns to perform the actual job under the supervision of a trainer. This concept does not relieve the trainer of the responsibility of aiding the trainee in the more complicated areas of the career development or knowledge portion. CDC's have been prepared on approximately 95% of the career fields authorized in the Florida Air National Guard.

FIELD TRAINING

All units of the Florida Air National Guard have continued to conduct year-round field training. Emphasis has been placed on achieving and maintaining the highest possible state of operational readiness and increasing the proficiency of each individual. Objectives of this training plan have been to:

- a. Increase daily support capability in accomplishment of the local and ADC mission.

b. Improve utilization of field training manpower by programming against actual work requirements.

c. Improve individual proficiency training through reduction of supervisor to trainee ratio and increase actual job performance in normal duty AFSC's.

d. Through closer supervision, planning and training, qualify personnel by a vigorous OJT and classroom training program in their specialty.

e. Obtain more useful work from personnel as the direct product of their OJT, and reduction of trainees on hand to be supervised at a given time.

f. Increase participation by commanders, staff officers, and supervisors by increasing planning and supervisory responsibilities for daily operation of the unit.

g. Attain a closer daily working relationship between the air technicians and military personnel with increased emphasis on military direction and supervision.

h. Improve Air National Guard — Employer relations by allowing large organizations that have several employees who are Guardsmen to schedule their field training at various periods.

The majority of Air Guardsmen attend field training at the Air National Guard Base in Jacksonville, Florida. However, in some cases, it has been found advisable to send certain sections off to nearby Air Force bases. As examples, medical and dental personnel were scheduled for their field training at Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida, for 1968. By doing this, certain sections are able to obtain broader experience for trainees in their specialty.

FEDERAL FUNDS AND EQUIPMENT

The mission of the Florida Air National Guard is such that it must be operationally ready for combat at all times. To ensure the maximum in readiness, the Federal Government funds and equips the Florida Air National Guard on a level closely paralleling the active Air Force. An average of 200 full-time Federally supported technicians are employed at the Air National Guard Base in Jacksonville. These technicians, representing about 25% of the overall strength of the Florida Air Guard, are specialists in the fields of command, administration, finance, accounting, supply and maintenance.

During Fiscal Years 1967 and 1968, Federal funds in the amount of $7,358,590.14 were expended in support of the Florida Air National Guard. This represents an increase of $1,597,648.61 over expenditures for the previous two fiscal years. The value of military equipment in use has decreased by $1,866,364.17 to $32,498,392.01. This was due to the reduction of assigned aircraft.

The F-102A aircraft, with which the Florida Air National Guard is currently equipped, is an expensive weapon system to operate. Cash purchases of supplies and services in the Jacksonville area in support of this aircraft during Fiscal Years 1967 and 1968 totaled $21,042.91; while purchase orders and delivery orders on local business concerns totaled $122,652.02. Local transportation companies received $24,219.05 for movement of material from Jacksonville to various points in the Nation. Cross service agreements with other military activities in the Jacksonville area resulted in services to the Florida Air National Guard valued at $18,354.82. The Federal funds paid to Florida business concerns, coupled with the $4,879,008.56 paid in salaries during this period, represents an industry of considerable value to the State of Florida and its citizens.

The warehouse inventory of 5,400 active items leveled at $3,097,948.01. There was an average of 5,532 monthly transactions for a dollar value of $1,994,994.70. These two figures indicate an efficient inventory control system that is well within the limits prescribed by the active Air Force. The aircraft fuel section issued fuel and petroleum products during this period that were valued at $828,740.03.

The supply system has remained basically the same during this period with only a few minor changes; therefore, good support was afforded to all units.

FLORIDA AIR NATIONAL GUARD LOSES LONG TIME FRIEND

After exactly 21 years, Florida Air National Guard C-47 aircraft (affectionately called the "Gooney Bird") was reassigned on 5 June 1968 to the active establishment and sent to Howard Air Force Base, Panama, Canal Zone. It is now being used by the 24th Air Commando Wing as a troop transport for paratroop operations. To replace the C-47, we received a C-54G in May of 1967. This aircraft, which had previously accrued 22,100 flying hours, had been in storage at the "Bone Yard" at Davis Monthan Air Force Base, Arizona, for 9 months. It has been completely refurbished and is now operational.

MAINTENANCE

Approximately 126 Air technicians perform maintenance on the unit aircraft which includes eighteen F-102's, two T-33's, and one C-54. The maintenance personnel perform all organizational maintenance and much of the field maintenance on both the primary mission and support mission aircraft; missiles and associated test equipment; ground power support equipment; all motor vehicles, including fire and crash equipment; the flight simulator; and the base communications system.

The 125th Fighter Group has had the F-102 as its primary aircraft for a period in excess of eight years. During this eight-year period, over 40,000 hours of F-102 flying time have been logged. During this biennium the maintenance activity supported approximately 10,500 flying hours for both primary mission and support mission aircraft. The experience level of all mechanics and specialists, both Air technician and weekend trainee, has risen steadily. The average experience level of Air technicians is now approximately 17 years. The high caliber of maintenance performed by these highly experienced technicians has enabled this unit to successfully pass all division and Federal inspections, and to maintain superior aircraft in-commission rates during sustained operations and exercises.

Noteworthy is the fact that an average in-commission rate of 78 percent was maintained during this period. The maintenance activity again received National recognition for its accomplishments with the Time Compliance Technical Order (TCTO) program. The Commanding General of the San Antonio Air Materiel Area has commended the maintenance element for its outstanding record of technical order accomplishment and for having technical order free aircraft during the period of this report. TCTO's are modifications which are required to correct safety conditions, increase reliability, or to increase the combat capability of the aircraft.

AEROSPACE COMMAND ALERT

The maintenance section provides support for the 24-hour Aerospace Defense Command alert commitment with ready maintenance crews. Weapons loading crews are available for necessary loading and unloading of aircraft on a continuing basis.

AIR NATIONAL GUARD BASE

The decision by the City of Jacksonville to close Imeson Airport and construct a new municipal airport required that new facilities be provided for the Florida Air National Guard at the new airport. Agreements between the city and Federal governments resulted in the replacement of like facilities at the city's expense, with new criteria upgrading cost being borne by the Federal Government.

The new 19-building complex contains 188,000 square feet of floor space and over 128,000 square yards of paving. The complex consists of dormitories for out-of-town officers and airmen, buildings which are easily expanded should the need arise, an independent emergency water supply, underground electrical distribution system, a central heating and air conditioning plant with underground distribution lines, adequate parking space, 80,000 square foot aircraft maintenance hangar, base operations building, and a 260-man dining hall and a dispensary.

Careful master planning during the initial design phase provided room for future expansion on the 168 acre complex. The new facilities were designed to incorporate functional management for any mission assignment. All buildings are of a modular design using structural steel framing, 5-inch concrete wall panels, light weight steel and gypsum roof decking, and interior partitions of steel studs and plaster board. This type construction will require minimum maintenance and is virtually fireproof and bug proof.

Although final cost figures are not available at this time, the total construction package will be approximately $5,140,000.00.

The time and effort expended on design of this base has had a beneficial effect on all future Air National Guard construction programs. The criteria established by the Department of Defense for this facility has now become the standard for all Air National Guard facilities.

ADVISORS

Officers and senior non-commissioned officers of the United States Army and Air Force are assigned to provide advice and assistance to units of the Florida National Guard. Their mission is to further the efficiency and combat effectiveness of the units to which assigned by providing advice and assistance to unit commanders and staffs.

The Headquarters of the Senior Army Advisor, Florida National Guard is located in the State Arsenal, St. Augustine, Florida. The authorized strength of the Advisory Group consists of 22 officers and 37 non-commissioned officers. The actual average strength during the biennium consisted of 14 officers and 31 enlisted men or 76 percent of the total authorized strength. The Senior Army Advisor, Col. Lewis L. Copley, has a dual responsibility as representative to the Commanding General, Third United States Army and military advisor to the State Adjutant General.

There are 18 unit advisors stationed strategically throughout the state. The units at Starke and Marianna, for the first time, will have assigned advisors.

The advisor personnel assigned to the State of Florida are professionally qualified, 60 percent have recently performed tours of duty in the Republic of Viet Nam.

NATIONAL GUARD OFFICERS ASSOCIATION OF FLORIDA

The National Guard Officers Association of Florida has been in existence since 1902. It consists of all officers and warrant officers of the Florida Army and Air National Guard. The Organization is run on a democratic basis, with the officers elected by the membership. Committee meetings are held periodically during the year, and a general conference is convened annually at some location within the State. The purposes of the Association are to promote and improve adequate national security; to provide a medium by which all officers of the Florida National Guard may become better acquainted; to establish a foundation for promoting esprit de corps in the Florida National Guard; to promulgate and support legislation in furtherance of the best interests of the Florida National Guard; and to maintain an Association complementing and in harmony with the National Guard Association of the United States. The annual conferences consist of business sessions during the day with the social functions in the evening.

This Association has 100% membership of all active National Guard officers and warrant officers. Even though members attend the annual conferences at their own expense, attendance continues to average in excess of 50% at these conferences. During the biennium, the 65th Annual Conference was held at the Carillon Hotel, Miami Beach, 5-6 May 1967 and the 66th Annual Conference was held at the Hotel Robert Meyer, Jacksonville, 15-16 March 1968.

During this reporting period, through joint efforts of the National Guard Officers Association of Florida and the National Guard Association of the United States, the 90th Congress passed The National Guard Technician Act of 1968, Public Law 90-486.
